Vandals Strike

Vandals caused at least $10,000 in damages at Keetley Mine Sunday when they plugged a pump and released 5,000 gallons of lime slurry. Sheriff Edd Thacker investigated the crime scene as LaVell Widdison began to clean up the mess Monday morning.

Dear Editor: We would invite the citizens of Heber City to enjoy a "breath of spring" by taking a drive or walk through the streets of Heber some early morning and enjoy the clean, fresh appearance of our City. During the first two weeks of May, the spring clean-up for Heber will be conducted, and we will all do an outstanding job of cleaning our yards and homes of the items that have collected during the past months.

A short time ago, we were admonished by an unknown person to go beyond our own property, and clean the streets from weeds, cars, limbs, furniture, and other debris. Take time to mow or spray the weeds in front of your home, and rather quickly you will have green growing, and it will help to make the cleaning that you have done in your yards appear prettier, as you will observe if you accept the invitation for the above mentioned walk or drive.

We are celebrating our Centennial this year, and to clean up, paint up, and paint up will make the year-long celebration much more successful and enjoyable, not only for us, but for the many visitors who will come to our City during the summer months.

Jordanelle Planning In Good Hands

A capable task force, assigned to study and plan recreation in the Jordanelle area, has been put together by Wasatch County Commission Chairman Moroni Besendorfer. He has chosen the members well and we thank them for being willing to sacrifice the time the project will require.

Many of them have special interests, like sports, water issues, and specific developments. Others represent landowners from the various communities. On one hand they can be expected to protect and promote their own interests, of course. But, on the other hand, each can also provide information for the others.

For instance, during the past week they have met three times to study the area, including a field trip, tutored by Bob Mathis, County Planner, who knows more about what's going on in the Jordanelle area than anyone else.

Police Report

Evidence Found

Sheriff's deputies have found property reported stolen, and evidence of other alleged crimes while searching the Wasatch County mobile home of a man being held on drug charges in Miami. He was arrested there with two other men allegedly in possession of 22 kilos of cocaine, according to Sheriff Edd Thacker.

He said the suspect, Glen Hodges, had been reported as a resident of Park City and officers there had been asked by Florida police to search Hodges' home for evidence.

tional charges are pending against Hodges and an accomplice in Wasatch County, Thacker said.

Aggravated assault charges are pending against a Midway man who allegedly fired a shot following an altercation in front of a Wasatch County bar last Sunday night. An arrest warrant had already been issued against the suspect because he had failed to appear in court on other charges.

Thacker said problems between the two men began while they were inside the bar and that they went outside to continue their argument.
